

Tuesday's Tip

information provided by Adriaance Memorial Library to make your life a little bit easier . . . .

Recently, a patron called to ask what happened to the website www.fultonhistory.com.

I was able to obtain this communication to users of this site on Facebook:

fultonhistory.com

September 9 at 2:47 PM ·

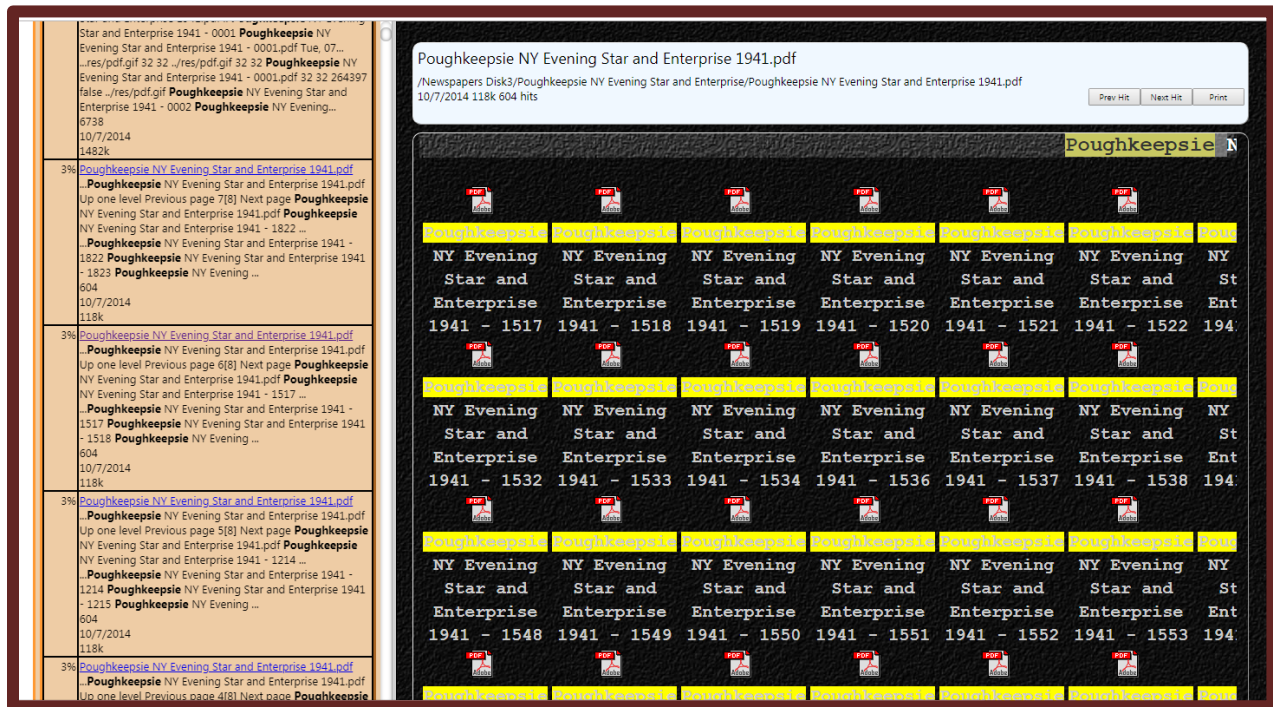

UPDATE 09/09/18

Hello All,

On the morning of 09/07/2018 my site (www.fultonhistory.com) was hit with a Ransomware Cyryptovirus that encrypted files across all my Hard drives including all my system backups images that were located on some of those drives rendering them unreadable. I have backups for all files damaged in one of my offline locations and will start the repair, as you might guess this a very time consuming task due to the many Terabytes of data that is involved. Tom

The site seems to be back up.

This site is a great resource for researchers and genealogists. Here is what one search yielded for "Poughkeepsie":

The site has a FAQ on how to navigate its abundant archives. Happy researching!