North American Climate Map

March 26, 2019

University of Maryland's Center for Environmental Science recently completed a new web application to help visualize the projected climate changes in 540 North American cities in the coming generation if current emissions continue uncurbed.

Read about the study here: <https://www.umces.edu/news/climate-north-american-cities-will-shift-hundreds-miles-one-generation>

Open the interactive map at:
<https://fitzlab.shinyapps.io/cityapp/>

Select your city by clicking on the map or entering your zip code at the left margin.

What will the climate feel like in 60 years?

For high emissions, Poughkeepsie's climate in 2080 will feel most like today's climate near Sikeston, Missouri.
