I was pulling holds the other day and stumbled upon A Cloud a Day by Gavin Pretor-Pinney. I have been playing this game with my iPhone where I snap pictures of the sky filled with clouds, especially heart clouds. I go back to the pictures at my leisure and sometimes I see incredible pictures in the cloud formations.

On the back cover I saw that there is an official Cloud Appreciation Society. The website is www.cloudappreciationsociety.org

The picture describes the type of clouds depicted. You can also click on the type of cloud and get more pictures as examples of that type of cloud.

People submit photos from around the world.

During these times of unrest it is a great escape, so get your head in those clouds! It’s absolutely beautiful up there!
