The number of COVID cases has increased rapidly with the holiday season and it is important to make sure you are wearing the correct mask and protective equipment and handling them correctly.

National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH) has released a list of FDA approved respirators for workers. The information provided includes information about the mask’s Supplier/Manufacturer, Model/Product, and Approval Number. It also includes User donning instructions to ensure they are used effectively. The list can be found at the link below:
