When you are unsure of what to do for entertainment or even education, you can always check the “Things to Do in Poughkeepsie” page on the Poughkeepsie Journal’s website. You can search all events or narrow down your focus to things like live music, kid friendly, or art exhibitions, just to name a few. This calendar also showcases events beyond the city if you are willing to drive a little further out.

Simply head to The Poughkeepsie Journal and click on the small arrow on the top main menu. This will show an extended drop down menu. At the bottom under ‘Life’ you will see the Events Calendar. Click on this to take you to the ‘Things to Do in Poughkeepsie’ page.
Once you are on this page you can search for events by keyword or select from the various categories to see if there is something that interests you. You can find lectures, concerts, craft fairs and much more.
You can also check out a similar calendar at The Daily Freeman’s site:

https://www.dailyfreeman.com/things-to-do/
And the Lower Hudson Valley at Lohud:
And The Albany Times Union:
Upstate music venue rebounds after death of its founder

Following the 2021 death of Tony Falco, The Falcon is undergoing a shift as Falco’s son shapes the venue’s post-pandemic future through a collaboration with the promotor of the Saratoga Jazz Fest.

https://events.timesunion.com/home